

Privacy Notice

Biosimilars Generation Website's objective is solely to provide information. During your access and navigation at this webpage we do not collect your personal information, but to enhance your experience and improve our contents we may use Cookies and other similar technologies. The specific types of cookies and/or other tracking technologies are standard cookies used for caching (storing data in a cache memory), and Google Analytics cookies to collect sessions, IP origin, site views, and referred pages amongst other standard stats (e.g. to ensure the proper functioning of our website or app).